Trees

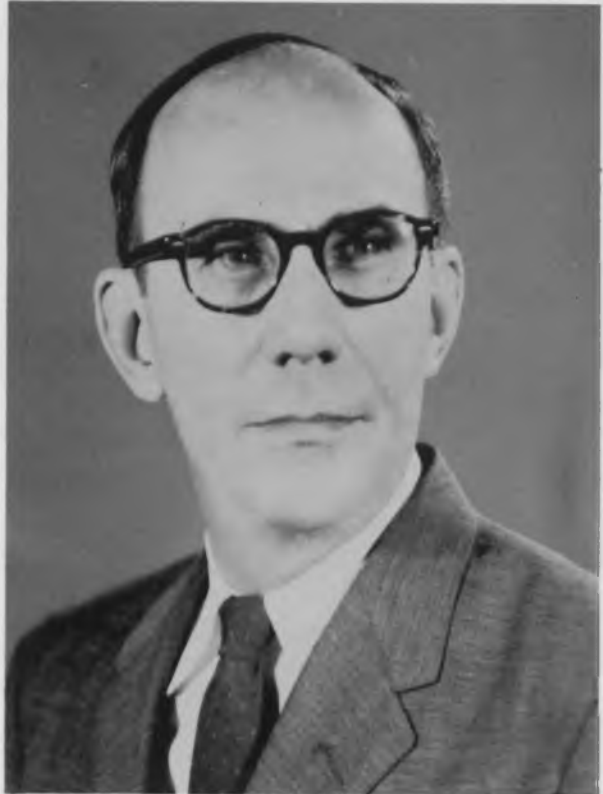

*I think that I shall never see
A Poem as lovely as a tree.
A tree whose hungry mouth is prest
Against the earth's sweet flowing breast;
A tree that looks at God all day,
And lifts her leafy arms to pray;
A tree that may in summer wear
A nest of robins in her hair;
Upon whose bosom snow has lain;
Who intimately lives with rain
Poems are made by fools like me,
But only God can make a tree.*

Joyce Kilmer.

Dedication

Professor
ROBERT W. McDERMID

The 1960 ANNUAL RING Staff, in recognition and appreciation of his continuous interest in student affairs, dedicate this Centennial Edition to Professor Robert W. McDermid.

During his affiliation with the Forestry School, he has assisted all student organizations, and especially been helpful in furthering the success of the Annual Ring. Affectionately known as "Mr. Mac" he has shown his dedication to the students by his concern over their problems, big or small. This opportunity is taken to express our gratitude for his service.

The Director's Message

by DR. PAUL Y. BURNS

Director of the School of Forestry
B.S., Tulsa 1941
M.F., Yale 1946
Ph.D., Yale 1949

This year has brought some changes in the L. S. U. Forestry School. Assistant Professors Applequist and Briscoe left L. S. U. to take positions elsewhere. They were replaced by Warren S. Thompson and Thomas Hansbrough. Our game management section was strengthened by the addition of Assistant Professor R. J. Muncy, who will conduct a program of fisheries instruction and research.

The School expanded its research by adding one staff member in each of the following fields: wood utilization, forest ecology, and hardwood regeneration. The staff now consists of 14 men and 3 full-time secretaries.

The sponsorship of the annual L. S. U. Forestry Symposium has continued to occupy much of our time and energies. Eight of these adult education programs have now been held, and we feel we are rendering a valuable service to forestry in the South in this way. We strive for continual improvement in making these symposiums successful.

Enrollment dropped slightly this year. We continue to depend largely on transfer students. The proliferation of forestry schools in the South since World War II has probably been the most important factor in keeping our forestry student body relatively small.

Our M. F. and M. S. programs have been popular; we have had 15 to 20 students enrolled each year for several years.

Scholarships for forestry students at L. S. U. are few. We have only three for undergraduates and one for graduates. Statistics show that many of the best students in high school graduating classes do not go to college because they cannot afford it. Our alumni and friends could be of service to the School and to the forestry profession if they helped to secure several scholarships for needy and deserving L. S. U. forestry students. Some of our alumni have already made efforts to obtain scholarship donations, and these efforts are greatly appreciated.

The faculty joins me in hoping the men graduating in the class of 1960 will have successful careers in the forestry profession. We feel a keen interest in the well-being and happiness of all our alumni.

The L. S. U. Society of Foresters as an organization is dedicated to the promotion of friendship and the development of interest in the profession of forestry.

Regular meetings are held twice monthly with a speaker or film being the major part of the program.

Also sponsored by the society are the Annual Ring, Council Fire Meeting, Freshman Orientation and Field Day. This year the society teamed up with the Pinettes for the annual Christmas Party.

A project initiated this year was the demonstration forest on the school forest. Members of the society contributed time and labor for the benefit of the club.

The society helped celebrate this Centennial Homecoming in a big way. Reward for hard work on the part of many was received when Mike's Dietzel powered mill walked off with the miscellaneous and sweepstakes trophies.

Xi Sigma Pi, the national forestry honor fraternity, was founded at the University of Washington on November 24, 1908.

The objectives of Xi Sigma Pi are to secure and maintain a high standard of scholarship in forestry education, to work for the upbuilding of forestry, and to promote fraternal relations among earnest workers engaged in forestry activities.

Nu Chapter was founded in the L. S. U. School of Forestry on April 13, 1940, with 21 charter members. At present, the chapter membership consists of 27 active members, 172 alumni members, and 1 honorary member. Only forestry students of high scholastic ranking with a creditable interest and activity in practical forestry work and showing promise of attaining high professional achievement are elected to membership in the fraternity.

"Neophyte" members are required to construct a fire tower in front of the library and maintain a constant "fire watch" on the tower during their informal initiation each semester.

Xi Sigma Pi projects are the presentation of the Outstanding Sophomore Award in forestry each year and maintenance of the forestry alumni distribution map in the lobby of the Forestry Building. Plans are underway to re-establish the Xi Sigma Pi Tree Grove near the University Lab School.

The Pinettes is an organization composed of forestry students' wives, faculty wives and secretaries of the Forestry School. It was organized under the leadership of Mrs. Paul Y. Burns and Mrs. William C. Hopkins in 1955 for the purpose of promoting fellowship among the forestry wives.

The monthly meetings, which are usually held at the Forestry Building, provide opportunities to get better acquainted, exchange helpful hints on homemaking, gardening, and developing an interest in the forestry profession.

To start the year off right the Pinettes held a successful "Get Acquainted Barbecue" at the home of Prof. and Mrs. Robert W. McDermid in September.

The annual Christmas Party was held jointly with the Society of Foresters at the Lions' Club Recreation Hall. Both events were well attended and enjoyed by all.

May the Pinettes enjoy many more successful years.

LSU School Forest Management Plan

Location: 10 miles from "Harold's."

Forest Types: Blackberry, poison sumac, cyrilla, piney woods and den trees.

Climate: Dependent on wind direction. If wind is from the east, wear a gas mask.

History: Clearcut 'bout 34 years ago. Anything that seeds in is cultured.

Geology: The soil is mostly sand except in muddy areas. The sandy areas are underlaid by mud and the muddy areas are underlaid by sand. Water does not drain from the area, therefore erosion is non-existent.

Area: 1007.3 acres of which 942.41 are forested and the rest is used for a base of operations by mosquitoes, snakes and bird watchers.

Logging operations: In the underwater portion, the submarine logging system will be used; beavers will be trained as felling and bucking crews with submarines to haul the logs out. The rest of the area will be logged with summer camp slave labor.

Labor supply: Don't depend on local labor. All the natives are restless due to repeated infringement upon their unalienable rights to secure life, liberty, and property, (including watermelons).

Silvicultural System: The Crow system of silviculture is to be used - commonly called by laymen - "Heads you cut, tails you leave." If you don't feel like using this system, try the "Awtuhellwithitt" method.

Recreation: None - all recreation will be carried out at the Gaylord Picnic Grounds.

Diseases and Insects: A real problem. Watch out especially for athlete's foot, ptomaine poisoning, and severe cases of anus crimsonia.

Slash disposal: All slash disposal is unnecessary but will be carried out by the troopers under the direction of the learned ones.

Improvements: Nothing can help this place.

Sales policy: Jump at any offer because merchantability is a problem.

Cruising Data: The CFI system is used, as set up by a departed wise man, using the following aids: 2 decks of cards (jokers present), 1 ouija board, 1 crystal ball and 1 simple instruction book, "Figure it out" (19 . . .)

WE ARE PROUD OF OUR FOREST LAND OWNERSHIP

You are looking at what was once a thriving sawmill town. A hotel, surrounded by dozens of houses, occupied the fire tower site. After the old growth timber was cut, the community became a ghost town, then withered away completely. The cut-over land lay bare and non-productive for years until purchased and reforested by Gaylord.

Our 510,000 acres of land in Louisiana and Mississippi are being managed for maximum wood production. In 1958 one-third the pulpwood consumed by our Bogalusa plant came from our own land. In addition 39 million bd. ft. of sawlogs, poles and piling were harvested by 83 local logging contractors, a number of which were dependent on company stumpage for their continuous operation.

All our forest lands are open to the local public for fishing, hunting, and picnicking.

The bulk of our lands was acquired from large corporate holdings and only a minor portion from properties less than 100 acres in size as follows:

Less than 100 acres - - - - -	2.6%
100 - 200 acres - - - - -	1.8%
More than 200 acres - - - - -	11.0%
Large Corporations - - - - -	84.6%
	100.0%

Employment of dozens of local citizens for several years was provided in planting the young pine trees, only a small portion of which are shown here. Soon, the harvest of a new timber crop will begin and the forest will then provide jobs for many more local residents - this time permanently.

To administer our forest holdings we have a permanent staff of 155 foresters and woodsmen, 34 of which with their families, reside on company land. Furthermore, an estimated 471 full time workers are employed by independent logging contractors.

As a result of rapid reforestation measures, the number of people employed today on company lands is several times greater than the number supported by these lands at the time of their acquisition.

We believe that our 510,000 acres of forests, as a direct result of company ownership, are contributing more than ever before to the social and economic welfare of the communities in which they are located.

SHORT CUT TO TOMORROW!

Yes, in forestry, we now can shorten the time it takes to get Tomorrow's job done.

We can do this largely because our search for better ways to speed up the forestry processes has been accompanied by unprecedented developments in the field of forestry equipment and supply. The tools for tomorrow's job are available now - today!

Much of this development springs from research at Forestry Suppliers, Inc., the nation's oldest and largest forestry supply house. Its new Catalog No. 9, issued this spring, lists more than 2,000 items - quality items from all corners of the globe.

Sooner or later, as a professional forester, you will turn to Forestry Suppliers, Inc. for your tools and equipment. So why not start in 1960! Write today for your copy of Catalog No. 9.

Economics and Markets Are Essential To the Practice of Forestry

An important incentive to good forest management and the growing of trees as a regular crop is the pulp and paper industry's increasing number of conveniently located mechanized pulpwood yards. International Paper Company has built more than one hundred of these reliable market places throughout the South.

As the industry learns how to use more hardwood in addition to pine, a wide range of new end products is being brought into the Southern economy and the useable forest resource is thus greatly expanded. This makes it possible for tree farmers and other landowners to manage, harvest, and market the complete tree crop more efficiently and more economically.

Forestry...

THE CAREER WITH A BOUNDLESS FUTURE

To the young men of America, forestry offers a most promising future. As new and wider uses for wood cellulose and wood products are developed, forestry will gain in stature as a basic science. Tomorrow's forester will possess a broader knowledge of the needs and methods for perpetuating one of our most illustrious resources. He will be a specialist in many and varied industry functions dependent upon both the quality and quantity of our timber supply. The woodlands of America are calling to the college man of this modern age . . . issuing a challenge . . . and extending a promise of boundless reward.

WHEREVER YOU GO IN LOUISIANA

You'll see projects created with equipment from "Service Headquarters"

A large percentage of the timber operations, construction of big buildings, broad highways, canals, bridges, levees, streets and other public and private improvements you admire in Louisiana have been created and are being maintained with the help of machines from "Service Headquarters."

Four large offices, with well-equipped shops and factory trained men, provide the type of equipment and service necessary for profitable forestry operations in this state. "S. E. T. C. O." is one of America's largest construction equipment firms. If you are interested in machinery or forestry problems, you are cordially invited to visit the nearest Southern Equipment & Tractor Company office. You will always be welcomed.

Mr. Forester, What About Your Future?

The Timber Resources Review was a scientific effort to project the needs for forest products up to and including the year 2,000 A.D. Taken at its face value one can only conclude that foresters are working with a stacked deck and are holding all the wild cards. It is indeed a challenge and an opportunity for the profession. Will foresters be equal to the task?

The forester of tomorrow, in order to meet the demands of a changing world, must develop executive and administrative qualifications in order to: (1) Communicate with, and therefore sell, his technical know-how to management; (2) Convert complex technical data into comprehensive economic and operational terms; (3) Develop plans of action and an organization for putting into operation management directives.

With technical skill, a high public relations quotient, ability to delegate responsibility, and a high sense of ethical conduct in dealing in his own organization and with others, the forester of tomorrow will be entitled to full professional status which he will so richly deserve.
